

THE AMERICAN MERCURY AUTHORS

HERBERT ASBURY is a member of the staff of the New York Herald-Tribune. He was born in Missouri. His first book, "Up From Methodism," is soon to be published.

JAMES D. BERNARD is the same who wrote "The Baptists" in the February number.

CHESTER T. CROWELL's article gives the main facts about his early career. He was later an editorial writer on the New York Evening Post. He is now writing for the magazines, and his first novel is nearly ready.

FIELDING H. GARRISON, M.D., is a lieutenant-colonel in the Army Medical Corps, on duty in the Army Medical Museum. He is generally conceded to hold first place among American medical historians. His books include histories of medicine, of military medicine and of pediatrics, and memoirs of Josiah W. Gibbs and John S. Billings.

ISAAC GOLDBERG, Ph.D. (Harvard), is a specialist in Latin American literature, and has written numerous books and articles on that subject. He is now at work on a critical and biographical study of Havelock Ellis.

HAROLD MACGRATH is the well-known novelist, author of "The Man on the Box," "The Puppet Crown," "The Carpet from Bagdad," and many other books. He was born and still lives in Syracuse, N. Y.

JOHN McCLURE is one of the editors of the Double Dealer at New Orleans. He is an Oklahoman.

JOSEPHINE HERBST was born in Sioux City, Iowa, and was educated at Morningside College, the University of Iowa and the University of California. She spent three years abroad, but is now living in Connecticut. Her first novel, "Unmarried," is soon to be published.

L. M. HUSSEY is a Philadelphia chemist. His first novel is soon to be published. He is now in Venezuela.

HENRY OSBORNE OSGOOD has been editor of the Musical Courier for ten years past. He was an assistant conductor at the Munich Royal Opera for three years. He has written for various journals on various art problems, and is the author of many songs and piano pieces, and of a book for children.

DAVID WARREN RYDER is a California journalist who has specialized in political and industrial subjects. He is a frequent contributor to the reviews.

JAMES STEVENS is the author of "Paul Bunyan." For a number of years he was a laborer in the Northwest.

SAMUEL W. TAIT, JR., is a native of Indiana, and was educated at Washington University. He is now engaged in business.

STANLEY VESTAL (WALTER STANLEY CAMPBELL) is assistant professor of English at the University of Oklahoma. He was the first Rhodes Scholar from Oklahoma.
