

LIMERICKS

TEXT AND PICTURES BY OLIVER HERFORD

XV—THE CHROMATIC CHAMELEON

THERE was once a chromatic chameleon
Who copied each tint he gazed freely on.
When he tried a Scotch plaid,
He went stark, staring mad
And cried, "This beats Ossa on Pelion!"

XVI—THE INQUISITIVE LEOPARD

A LEOPARD, when told that benzine
 Removed spots and imparted a sheen,
 Just to try, drank a stein!
 Next moment no sign
 Of a spot (or a leopard) was seen.

THE DE VINNE PRESS, NEW YORK