

Mr. Slim's Experience at Sea.

Mr. Slim is behind time, and has to take a boat in order to reach the vessel.

The tide is strong, and the wind ahead. Mr. Slim thinks it dangerous.

He reaches the ship, but finds some difficulty in getting on board.

A hundred miles out at sea. Squally. He thinks he will go to his state-room.

Curious motion of the ship. He finds a difficulty in unlocking the door.

He succeeds at last, and enters his state-room in a hasty manner.

Mr. Slim in his state-room.—Position Number One.
Vol. XI.—No. 64.—N N*

Mr. Slim in his state-room.—Position Number Two.

Mr. Slim in his state-room. — Position Number Three.

Feels somewhat uneasy, but, thinking dinner will do him good, takes his seat at the table.

Appearance of Mr. Slim after having attempted dinner. Feels decidedly worse.

Feeling a little better, he proceeds on deck. Curious aspect of things in general.

Walks forward to speak to Officer. Big wave comes on board. Effect upon Mr. Slim.

Comes near Officer, but is prevented from accosting him at once.

Odd feeling comes over him. Thinks he will go back to his state-room.

Mr. Slim in his state-room again. Wonders if he is going to be sea-sick.

Fashions for September.

Furnished by Mr. G. BRODIE, 51 Canal Street, New York, and drawn by VOIGT from actual articles of Costume.

FIGURE 1.—EQUESTRIAN COSTUME.