the electrical transmission and in the playing. Musicraft is responsible for one of the most recent releases, which I haven't had a chance to hear as yet. But for Bach fans in general and for partisans of the suite in A-major in particular, Musicraft Album No. 3 is worth looking into. Seven sides are devoted to the suite, with Stefan Frenkel doing the fiddling and Ernst Victor Wolff at the harpsichord. The eighth side is the Bach fugue in G-minor for violin and figured bass, with the same duo performing, Mr. Wolff having filled out the basso continuo part of the score for harpsichord.

Handel's sixth concerto for harpsichord and orchestra, B-flat major, is recorded by Victor on three sides of two ten-inch disks. The saramande and gigue from Handel's eleventh harpsichord suite take the fourth side. Crisp, clean playing distinguishes the performance of Roesgen-Champion at the harpsichord and the orchestra under Piero Coppola. If you have a decided taste in string tone you may feel a certain chill at times, but on the whole it is a very satisfactory job. R. W.

1 World Politics, 1918-36 by R. Palme Dutt

Explains how and why, in less than twenty years after the war-to-end-all-wars, the world has gone through a cycle of a world economic crisis, rearmament, to the brink of another World War. Explains the varied problems of the period as parts of a single world process. Proposes how a new World War can be prevented. Regular price $2.

2 From Bryan to Stalin by William Z. Foster

Autobiography of the leader of the heroic steel strike of 1919 that paved the way for the S.W.O.C. victories of 1937. A history of the Left wing of the American working-class movement from 1910 to 1936. "Most important book on working-class politics which has yet come out of America," says John Strachey. Foster is chairman of the Communist Party of the United States. Regular price $2.50.

3 Rulers of America by Anna Rochester

Rips the veil off Wall Street. Shows who really owns America, and how the Morgans and Rockefellers, the Mellons and Du Ponts, unite or fight as their interests require, to squeeze the last drop of tribute from the workers of the world. The first complete analysis of American finance capital. Fascinating reading, and an invaluable reference book. Regular price $2.50.

4 An American Testament by Joseph Freeman

The extremely personal and importantly political autobiography of the editor of New Masses, telling in the rich, warm style you know so well, of his progress from the poverty of his native Russian village, through middle-class prosperity in America, through the futility of Bohemianism, through doubts and prejudices, to the revolutionary movement . . . to New Masses, to Communism. Regular price $3.00.

& New Masses for Six Months

Takes you behind the scenes of "world politics 1937," of the great steel struggles of 1937, of the latest maneuver of the "rulers of America" and their fascist stooges . . . analyzes the problems today confronting honest intellectuals who resent the frustrations of capitalism . . . shows the way to organized action against the forces of reaction. The regular six-month subscription price is $2.50.

Budget your Reading

OF COURSE you're busy. Of course you're broke. So is every one who's trying to earn a sort of a living, to build his union, to help save Spain, and to talk understanding into don't-care friends.

But you can't give up your reading. The smart thing to do is to budget it. Read the meatiest books, the most important magazine—and get both at the best possible prices. Here are four Special Combination Offers which will help to balance your viewpoint and your reading budget, too.

Because you're busy, be efficient. Choose your book, fill out the coupon, mail it with your check for $3.39—today.
