Double-Crostics: Number 35

By ELIZABETH S. KINGSLEY

DIRECTIONS

To solve this puzzle, you must guess twenty words, the definitions of which are given in the column headed DEFINI (these numbers appear at the beginning of each definition) and you are thereby able to tell how many letters are in the required word. When you have guessed a word each letter is to be written in the correspondingly numbered square on the puzzle diagram. When the squares are all filled in you will find (by reading from left to right) a quotation from a famous author. Reading up and down the letters mean nothing. The black squares indicate ends of words; therefore words do not necessarily end at the right side of the diagram.
Either before (preferably) or after placing the letters in their

5 There ought to be a system for pro－ viding book reviewers with advance tips on Nobel Prize winners．One or two of the reviewers were neatly caught off first base by the announcement of the award．Piran－ dello．．．Pirandello？Oh，yes，the man who wrote Six Characters in Search of an Author，and that book of essays－what was it called？If there was even a men－ Desire Me，we didn＇t see it．Now Dutton＇s list no less than a dozen books in print by Pirandello，including five novels，five It will be interesting to hear how the sales of these books are affected by the Nobel Prize announcement．
$\omega$ Statisticians inform us that Erle Stanley Gardner，lawyer and detective novelist，produces $1,440,000$ words a year （about 4，00 a day），and that Nicholas Murray Butler，between 1872 and 1932 has written 3,200 books，reports，speeches， articles，and introductions（about one item a week）．We are glad to see in the Cumulative Book Index that twenty－nine titles by President Butler are listed as in print and available．
$T$ The Pleasures of Publishing，which supplied the Butler statistic above（the 3,200 figure，we mean；we looked up the C．B．I．ourselves）has begun to serialize a list of Thirty－Three Commandments for Publishers of Books，derived，we take it，from the Publishers＇Code．The first fourteen are printed in the current issue of that weekly mimeograph，and we rec ommend it to any one who wants a bird＇s eye view of what the code contains．We are interested in Doubleday＇s timely an nouncement about heavy water，the dis－ covery for which Dr．Harvey C．Urey was recently awarded the Nobel Prize in phys ics．It seems that the whole business is explained in Watson Davis＇s The Advance of Science，which Doubleday has just is－ sued．＂The hypothesis，＂says Mr．Davis， ＂has been advanced that the cause of old age and senility is too much heavy water in the human body．．．If this idea is sus－ tained，will science find the＇fountain of youth＇in some method of rajuvenating by remr ving the h；avy water froun ur tis－ sues？＂IF The most interes．． g dining to us in the latest Van Dine mystery，The Casino Murder Case，was the general to do made over the theory that a murder had been caused by giving the victim heavy water to drink：but，as we remem－ ber it，Mr．Van Dine＇s scientific depart－ ment finally came through with the state－ ment that heavy water was harmless．Will somebody clear this up for us？

WFWe recently asked in this column whether the French had a word for hang－ over－in fact，Old Quercus，never having observed any hangover in France，doubt－ ed whether they had such an expression． Mr．G．F．Lechat informs us that if there is no word，there is at least a phrase：＂To have a hangover＂means＂Avoir la gueule de bois．＂We checked this in The Concise Oxford French Dictionary，and it＇s O．K．
