

Double-Crostics: No. 78

By ELIZABETH S. KINGSLEY

DIRECTIONS

To solve this puzzle, you must guess twenty-two words, the definitions of which are given in the column headed DEFINITIONS. The letters in each word to be guessed are numbered. These numbers appear under the dashes in the column headed WORDS. There is a dash for each letter in the required word. When you have guessed a word, fill it in on the dashes; then write each letter in the correspondingly numbered square on the puzzle diagram. When the squares are all filled in you will find (by reading from left to right) a quotation from a famous author. Reading up and down the letters mean nothing. The black squares indicate ends of words; therefore words do not necessarily end at the right side of the diagram.

When the column headed WORDS is filled in, the initial letters spell the name of the author and the title of the piece from which the quotation has been taken. Unless otherwise indicated, the author is English or American.

The solution of last week's Double-Crostic will be found on page 21 of this issue.

Trade Winds

By P. E. G. QUERCUS

PRESENTING, ladies and gents, FOR ONE WEEK ONLY and for the first time in any rag Silver & Salver (adv), rapid-fire chatters and trippers of the light fantastic extraordinaire, in a dazzling, sparkling and gabby drama, Let's Trade Winds. O. K. Professor, swing it!

SILVER: Well, Salver, old Querk has taken it on the lam again leaving his column as blank as an English gag. What'll we fill it with—book news, trade dope or just fill it?

SALVER: Why not talk about the Silver Salver, that unique merchandising . . .

SILVER: Hold it, my lad. We've got to cut out giving the SRL any more free advertising in this pillar. The break this time goes to publishers and bookstores.

SALVER: Exactly. The Silver Salver will help sell more books when properly displayed and . . .

SILVER: That's out, Salver. Old Querk will clip us both on the chin if we use his column to peddle that clever book and mag unit which sells for only 75c.

SALVER: I guess you're right. O.K. Let's stick to books. Wowie, here's something hot, Silver. Oxford University Press is publishing this week Problems of Peace and right on top of all this war talk too. Just watch the alert booksellers play it up with the war headlines.

SILVER: Now you're hitting, boy. That's the idea. Isn't it better than harping on the sales that would result if all bookshops were to use the Silver Salver and . . . ?

SALVER: Whoa, Jockey! Now you're muscling in on the Silver Salver twist. Remember—books this time and nothing else but. What do you think of Col. Theodore Roosevelt joining the Double-day, Doran outfit? That's news for you.

SILVER: And here's some more: the Columbia Press has sold out the first printing of the Columbia Encyclopedia a month before pub. date—20,000 copies.

SALVER: The Fall list of new books strikes me as a great one. Bookshops should cash in on the John Jay biography by Frank Monaghan and published by Bobbs-Merrill. If there is anything the public goes for it is good biographies.

SILVER: You're right. I see where Mary Queen of Scotland, Catherine, The Portrait of an Empress, are still in the best selling class.

SALVER: And I can see where a line is going to form on the right for Men and Brethren, the new James Gould Cozzens novel. If it's anything like The Last Adam you better place your order in early.

SILVER: Well, we're shooting right down old Quercus's alley, talking about books. And while we're at it—let's hurl a flock of petunias to Arthur Kober. S. & S. is soon publishing his Thunder Over the Bronx and it's murder. Gambol with the Gross family in the Bronx and split a rib.

SALVER: I'll tell you what, Silver, if we can't mention that—you know—the SRL merchandising unit—let us at least give the address and department where alert booksellers can write for further information. That isn't asking for much.

SILVER: O.K., what is it?

SALVER: Bookshop Department, Saturday Review of Literature, 25 West 45th St.

THE Jewish Caravan

GREAT STORIES OF 25 CENTURIES

EDITED BY Leo Schwarz

A magnificent treasure chest of the literary riches of a great people accumulated over a period of 3000 years . . . More than a hundred selections from the greatest and most representative Jewish writers . . . ranging from the Old and New Testaments, the Agada, the Apocrypha and Josephus, to Arnold Zweig, Ludwig Lewisohn, Sholom Asch, Max Brod, Edmond Fleg, Franz Werfel, Michael Gold . . . "One of the most remarkable books of many years. It should make every Jew proud of his race."—George H. Doran.
768 pages, $3.75

THE Wish Child

BY Ina Seidel

A novel of heroic proportions, made up of three large themes woven together: a strange, tender, yet one-sided love affair; the courageous and thrilling life of one beautiful woman; and the intricate cross-currents of political and military fortune that swept over Germany just prior to and during the Napoleonic Era. "I read every word of it enthralled."—Hayter Preston, THE LONDON REFEREE. "A remarkable piece of historical reconstruction."—London Times.
619 pages, $2.75

Anthony Adverse

Over one million copies were sold throughout the world at the original price. Now at a new low price it is one of the big bargains of our time. 1224 pages complete and unabridged.
NOW ONLY $2.00

By Baroness Ishimoto Facing Two Ways

Born of a Samurai family, Baroness Ishimoto helped free the geisha girls and the working women from the bondage of feudal Japan. Her autobiography reveals the intimate story of a courageous fight for suffrage, birth control, and social equality . . . a triumphant fight which made a place for women in the world of men which is modern Japan.

"A fascinating true story, told with an exotic, quiet charm . . . delightful reading."—Isabel Paterson, N. Y. HERALD TRIBUNE. "It is a happy thing that the western world can have a book like this from and about Japan."—John Clair Minot, BOSTON HERALD.

373 pages, 29 photographs. $3.50

The Sun Sets in the West By Myron Brinig

author of SINGERMAN

Even greater than Singermann is this dramatic story of the men and women, bad and good, Jew and Gentile, in a Montana mining city . . . A panoramic novel rich in characters, compassion, beauty, humor . . . by one of America's most important novelists. You may remember Mr. Brinig's Wide Open Town and This Man is My Brother. This is his best book by far!
360 pages, $2.50

The Ginkgo Tree By Cora Jarrett

author of NIGHT OVER FITCH'S POND

Night Over Fitch's Pond was hailed last year, both here and abroad, as a real literary discovery. Its unusual theme and original plot stirred the enthusiasm of critics and readers alike. Cora Jarrett's new novel, written with the same curious intensity and psychological insight, will startle and delight readers as did her previous success.

A Nero Wolfe mystery by Rex Stout, $2.00

MR. PINKERTON: A Scotland Yard Omnibus
by David Frome, $2.00

BURN FOREVER by Leslie Ford, $2.00

By Frederick Wight South

Booksellers know when great books are born. Marcia Passage of THE SUN-WISE TURN BOOKSHOP says:

"Please place me among the loud and high sopranos in the choir to sing the praises of Frederick Wight's SOUTH. It's tiresome to compare books to jewels—but if ever I saw a book that was like a diamond—cold, hard, pure and perfect in every facet—this is it . . . You've made a gorgeous book of it. I hope to Heaven it has a huge sale."

634 pages, with 5 full-color portraits by the author.
