DIRECTIONS

To solve this puzzle, you must guess twenty-six words, the definitions of which are given in the column headed DEFINITIONS. The letters in each word to be guessed are numbered. These numbers appear under the dashes in the column headed WORDS. There is a dash for each letter in the required word. When you have guessed a word, fill it in on the dashes; then write each letter in the correspondingly numbered square on the puzzle diagram. When the squares are all filled in you will find (by reading from left to right) a quotation from a famous author. Reading up and down the letters mean nothing. The black squares indicate ends of words; therefore words do not necessarily end at the right side of the diagram.

When the column headed WORDS is filled in, the initial letters spell the name of the author and the title of the piece from which the quotation has been taken. Unless otherwise indicated, the author is English or American.

The solution of last week's Double-Crostic will be found on page 20 of this issue.

The New Books

Punch bumps his way, much of the time in an unpredictable Ford.

They are a clever, invincible lot, the Yale Puppeteers, and their marionettes are among the best in America. Forman Brown is invaluable as the witty, facile and often poetic dramatist for the marionettes, with a splendid literary background.

The story moves from one unexpected incident to another, every page a new picture. But we have more in it than the fortunes of the marionettes. Forman Brown writes with humor and beauty. His eye and pen are sensitive alike to the grotesqueries of wooden puppets, to the appeal of human beings they meet on their tour, and to the contrasting communities into which they enter for an hour of fantasy and fun. He has written a chronicle of wandering puppets and a panorama of the American scenes through which they pass. And for those interested in the art of puppetry he has scattered through his pages the best of puppet philosophy and esthetics.

Brief Mention

The Charles E. Tuttle Company of Rutland, Vermont, has issued another of their reprints of famous Vermont books, Sam Lovell's Boy, With Forest and Stream Fables, edited by L. R. Perkins ($2.50). * * * The many admirers of D. H. Lawrence should note D. H. Lawrence: A Personal Record, by E. T., with an introduction by J. Middleton Murry (New York, Knight Publications, $2.50). * * * An agreeable book on the Connecticut valley charged with historical reminiscence is A. Hyatt Verrill's The Heart of Old New England (Dodd, Mead, $3). * * * In the field of history there is an interesting group of books which must be merely noted here for lack of space to review. Hugh Braun's The English Castle (Scribner's, $3), is a study elaborately illustrated of the rise and decline of the castle in English architectural history. This is a book which should be particularly valuable for small libraries. The illustrations are fresh and a great addition to the text. * * * An eighteenth century figure "acclaimed by his contemporaries and ignored by posterity" and designated by the author "the brilliant failure of the Eighteenth Century" was Carteret, whose biography by W. Baring Pemberton is published by Longmans, Green ($5). * * * In sharp contrast is a little book on an American humorist once famous and now almost forgotten, Petroleum Vesuvius Nasby, by Cyril Clemens (International Mark Twain Society, Webster Groves, Mo.). * * * Compact and scholarly is W. L. McElwee's The Reign of Charles V: 1516-1558 (Macmillan, $2.50). * * * Those who read with interest Lloyd Lewis's Life of Sherman Ellen Ewing, the wife of General Sherman, just published by Benziger Brothers, New York. * * * We might note here also a revised and enlarged edition of W. F. Willoughby's The Government of Modern States, a textbook of considerable current value (Appleton-Century $3.25).

Discovery

Last December it was prophesied in Vanity Fair that "Lionel Wiggam will be one of our most talked-of young poets before 1936 is out." Since then, the poems of this twenty-year-old college student have won prizes and praise, have attracted increasing attention in the leading magazines; and now, with the publication of his first book, the prophecy is fully realized. First edition over-subscribed. Large 2nd printing before publication. $1.75

Robert Hillyer—"Lyrics of deep feeling and sensitive technique. A book of true poetry." Charles Hanson Towne—"His work has great beauty. One hails him with delight . . . He has fine, robust stuff in him."

LANDSCAPE WITH FIGURES

by Lionel Wiggam

Just In Time

For The Election Brawl

The funniest political book in years has been written by the Liberty League and its friends. It's the verbatim record of the wails of despair and prophecies of doom of the Messrs. Hoover, Landon, Knox, DuPont, Hearst et al (Smith). Written in a spirit of good, clean malice, it's the cock-eyed compendium of the threats, prognostications, lamentations and unconscious contradictions of all the disgruntled, out-voted boys who greet rising business indices with the cry, "The country is going to Hell!" A satire written by the very men it satirizes—a grand antidote for presidential-year ravings. $1.00
