The Saturday Review's Guide to Science Fantasy Fiction

Book	Theme	Handling	Rating
CLOAK OF AESIR John W. Campbell, Jr. (Shasta: $3)	Remarkable collection of ideological stories from science fiction's most remarkable editor.	A little too much direct description; otherwise of the best.	Ideas always outweigh content.
THE CONTINENT MAKERS L. Sprague de Camp (Twayne: $2.95)	Tales—of every description—from the civilization of the Viagens Interplanetarias .	Thread of central background holds even the poorer ones together; and few are poor.	Tops in both humor and adventure.
THE STARMEN Leigh Brackett (Gnome: $2.75)	Only one race is really capable of interstellar travel.	Exciting humanization of very difficult material.	Both interesting and credible.
BALLROOM OF THE SKIES John D. MacDonald (Greenberg: $2.75)	Combines human emotion with the "we are manipulated" idea.	Starts as first-class story; turns into good cosmic story; turns back.	Material often escapes author's control.
FUTURE TENSE Ed. by Kendall Foster Crossen (Greenberg: $3.50)	Fourteen stories of the future, including one novel; seven from magazines, seven originals.	All types from humor to symbolism, with everything in between, and from non-skill to skill.	Magazine editors seldom err.
WEST OF THE SUN Edgar Pangborn (Doubleday: $2.75)	Humans try to colonize a dangerous world already inhabited by humanoids.	Perfectly real people handling a difficult situation according to their lights.	Brilliance by a newcomer.
JUDGMENT NIGHT C. L. Moore (Gnome: $3.50)	Collection of some of the strangest long stories ever written in the science-fiction form.	Complete answer to the charge science fiction lacks emotion.	First story a classic; rest often hard to grasp, but good.
BEYOND HUMAN KEN Ed. by Judith Merrill (Random House: $2.95)	Twenty-one tales of non-human creatures.	High level of making reader understand how non-humans can have graspable thoughts and emotions.	Must say it's good; I wrote introduction.
OMNIBUS OF SCIENCE FICTION Ed. by Groff Conklin (Crown: $3.50)	None in particular except to bring together a giant volume (43 stories) of good science fiction.	Generally above average of magazines; but the magazine average is low.	You'll not be too sorry.
PRISONER IN THE SKULL Charles Dye (Abelard: $2.50)	Search for a telepathic danger in a world that has no use for such.	Dashiell Hammett with emotional immaturity and surplus detail.	Passes too many miracles.
THE CURRENTS OF SPACE Isaac Asimov (Doubleday: $2.75)	What happens aboard planets whose suns are about to become novae.	Reduces a scientific problem to basic human terms.	Best Asimov to date.
SENTINELS FROM SPACE Eric Frank Russell (Bourey & Curl: $2.75)	We are watched from afar, but not quite helpless or hopeless.	Exciting semi-classic; but is this the super-minds work?	The hand is Russell, but the voice is Van Vogt.

DIRECTIONS

To solve this puzzle you must guess twenty-odd WORDS, the definitions of which are given in the column headed DEFINITIONS. Alongside each definition, there is a row of dashes—one for each letter in the required word. When you have guessed a word, write it on the dashes, and also write each letter in the correspondingly numbered square of the puzzle diagram. . . . When the squares are all filled in, you will find that you have completed a quotation from some published work. If read up and down, the letters in the diagram have no meaning. . . . Black squares indicate ends of words; if there is no black square at the right side of the diagram, the word carries over to the next line. . . . When all the WORDS are filled in, their initial letters spell the name of the author and the title of the piece from which the quotation has been taken. Of great help to the solver are this acrostic feature and the relative shapes of words in the diagram as they develop.

Authority for spellings and definitions is Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition.
