DIRECTIONS

To solve this puzzle you must guess twenty-odd WORDS, the definitions of which are given in the column headed DEFINITIONS. Alongside each definition, there is a row of dashes—one for each letter in the required word. When you have guessed a word, write it on the dashes, and also write each letter in the correspondingly numbered square of the puzzle diagram. . . . When the squares are all filled in, you will find that you have completed a quotation from some published work. If read up and down, the letters in the diagram have no meaning. . . . Blank squares indicate ends of words; if there is no blank square at the right side of the diagram, the word carries over to the next line. . . . When all the WORDS are filled in, their initial letters spell the name of the author and the title of the piece from which the quotation has been taken. Of great help to the solver are this acrostic feature and the relative shapes of words in the diagram as they develop. Authority for spellings and definitions is Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition.

The Saturday Review

What makes a newspaper great?

NOTE TO BOOK-LOVERS: The current crop of published works by Minneapolis Star and Tribune authors is at your bookseller's. It has been a bumper year, with six new books added to the already impressive roster of titles published by staff members of these two Upper Midwest newspapers.

The new books are as varied as the minds and interests of five members of one of the liveliest, most literate groups of journalists in the country. Subjects range from home-gardening to science-fiction; from a deep-probing analysis of school integration problems in the South to a fascinating autobiography covering a half-century in sports, to a layman's look at the almost unbelievable world that science will build for us by the end of this century.

You'll find these new additions to your library a sparkling reflection of the talents that have made the Minneapolis Star and Tribune two of the nation's best-read, best-liked and most respected newspapers.

Copr., 1957, The Minneapolis Star and Tribune Co.

NEW BOOKS

FLOWER GROWING IN THE NORTH by George F. Luxton, garden editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune ($3.95, University of Minnesota Press). A practical, month-by-month guide for the home gardener in long-winter areas, brightened with charming bits of old-fashioned garden lore.

1999—OUR HOPEFUL FUTURE by Victor Cohn, science reporter of the Minneapolis Morning Tribune ($3.75, Bobbs-Merrill). A brilliant, authentic forecast of life at the end of the 20th Century, based on two years of intensive research by this writer whose science reporting has won him two Sigma Delta Chi Awards.

THE PITIFUL AND THE PROUD by Carl T. Rowan, news reporter of the Minneapolis Morning Tribune ($5.00, Random House). The absorbing eyewitness report by an ace Negro newsman (winner of 3 Sigma Delta Chi Awards) of the racial, political and economic forces at work beneath the turmoil in India, Pakistan and Southeast Asia.

MY LIFETIME IN SPORTS by George A. Barton, who retired this year from the Minneapolis Tribune sports staff ($3.95, Olympic Press). A vivid personal story of 50 years in the sports world by a dean of newspaper sports reporting—a man who has been on first-name terms with virtually every major sports figure since the turn of the century.

STRANGERS IN THE UNIVERSE by Clifford D. Simak, news editor of the Minneapolis Star ($3.50, Simon and Schuster). A collection of eleven fascinating science-fiction stories by an imaginative newsman who has published five novels and contributed scores of articles to magazines.

GO SOUTH TO SORROW, another volume by Carl T. Rowan of the Minneapolis Morning Tribune ($3.50, Random House). A penetrating, disturbing report of this prize-winning Negro reporter's firsthand experiences with the white South's efforts to block the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation order.
